thew What You Know About and Know What You Are Chewing

There is real pleasure in chewing the best tobacco grown-where the best tobacco grows-in the famous Piedmont Country.

Only choice selections of this well-matured and thoroughly cured tobacco is used in making SCHNAPPS. That's why SCHNAPPS and others of the Reynold's brands. as shown by the Internal Revenue statistics for a fiscal year, made the wonderful growth of six and onequarter million pounds, or a net gain of one-third of the entire increased consumption of chewing and smoking tobaccos in the United States.

Evidently, chewers cannot resist the flavor and they cheer SCHNAPPS because SCHNAPPS cheers them more than any other chewing tobacco, and every man that chews SCHNAPPS passes the good thing along-one chewer makes other chewers-until the fact is now established that there are many more chewers and pounds of tobacco chewed, to the population, in those States where SCHNAPPS tobacco was first sold than there are in the States where SCHNAPPS has not yet been offered to the trade.

SCHNAPPS is like a cup of fine Java coffee, sweetened just enough to bring out its natural, stimulating qualities. SCHNAPPS pleases all classes of chewers: the rich, because they do not find a chew that really pleases them better at any price; the poor, because it is more economical than the large 10c. or 15c. plugs and they get their money's worth of the real snappy, stimulating flavor so appreciated by tobacco lovers. All imitations contain much more sweetening than SCHNAPPS. They are made that way to hide poor tobacco improperly cured.

For the man who chews tobacco for tobacco's sake, there is no chew like SCHNAPPS.

Sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. Cuts. Strictly 10c. and 15c. Plugs wo Instances That at Least Show Remarkable Intelligence.

A most interesting discussion is going on in the papers on the above subject. Do dogs reason? One side says no, the other ves. So far the aves seem to have the best of the argument. Here is an example that recently came under the notice of the writer. A friend has a dog that is growing old and fat, but not in the least stupid. He does not follow very well, and she takes him out very often on a strap. The other morning she was in a great hurry and rushed poor Fido, as we shall call him, along at a great rate. He did not like it at all, but had to come willy-nilly. Suddenly she felt the strap lighter and looked around to see Fido sitting on the pavement some feet back with an expression of the utmost obstinacy on his face. She went back and slipped his collar on. But Fidb had learned a new trick. He had discovered that if he sat down suddenly and firmly the collar would slide off and three times while he was out he worked that trick. Each time there was the monkey sitting on the sidewalk with that look that said as plainly as words: "I won't be dragged along. No self-respecting dog would submit to such treatment!"

This same dog was at a military camp a couple of years ago, and he learned to distinguish the bugle call for the officers' mess. When one blew he rushed off to the right tent, and when the other pealed forth he scampered in the opposite direction. He was a great pet at both and knew he would get tit-bits twice over. Think of a dog knowing bugle calls! Something some solliers cannot manage.

"John," said Mrs. Hubberson you've been drinking!

"My dear," he replied, steadying mself by clinging to the door knol 'wha' makesh you think that? Do I act's if I'd been drinkin'?"

"It doesn't make any difference whether you do or not, I know ou've been drinking. You can' ool me!"

"Do I talk like a man'sh been lrinkin'?"

"That is immaterial. I am postive that-'

"Then if I don't act like man'sh been drink'n', nor talk like man'sh een drink'n', wha's use your wrongin' me like that? I'm martyr. "Not a thing, sir. Not allowed thash wha' I am! 'M go'n' out'n' thing happens t' me, remember you drove me to it. Tha's what a man gets f'r hav'n' a wife that can't 'preciate 'um! Boo!"

Then he wobbied out into the night, and his wife was left alone bitterly regretting that she had no saved him from danger by knockinhim down with the feather duster.

ADVICE FOR THE BRIDE.

There are not a few women in the world who have a rooted idea that their husbands should be as much a home fixture as the domestic cat, and this little mistake on their part is an active agent in the propagation of matrimonial woes.

Man is essentially a creature of change, and monotony is the death blow of many a one-time fierce, burning passion. Consequently the wise woman, knowing this, will encourage her husband to spend an occasional evening out, recognizing that her company and that of his home will be better appreciated if sandwiched in between a night with his old chums or one spent at the much-maligned but innocent club meeting.

Early in married life a woman should recognize this fact and act accordingly. Instead of adopting an aggressive attitude when her husband suggests going out, she should smile sweetly, help him to get out and say: "I'm glad you are going out, dear. Don't hurry home," and when he does come it should be to find a smiling wife and a good sup-

This is the sort of marriage which is seldom a failure. The husband of such a wife is always in love with her, and has a habit of mentally contrasting her with the other wives of his acquaintance, much to her advantage.

There are many worse fellows than the one who seeks an occasional night out with his particular chums. Encourage him, little bride, and don't weep your bonnie eyes out when he takes you at your word. Never mind the example of your neighbor who has a husband of the first-class henpecked order, says Woman's Life. You do not want monotony to put the first touch of blight on your still warm, glowing affection, and this assuredly will happen if you do not restrain your passion for an unlimited dose of your husband's company,

ONE THING HE KNEW.

A certain former mayor of Manchester, Mass., and a certain former alderman, both of whom for SOUTHERN RAILWAY the purposes of this story shall be nameless, were at swords' points during the whole of their political careers, and indulged in many a wordy serap. The mayor never had got beyond the high school in his educational career, and the alderman had sawed off his schooling with the grammar grade, and neither prided himself on his scholarship.

It happened one day that they indulged in an argument rather more heated than usual. "See here," said the alderman at length, "I may not be much of a scholar, but there is one thing about it, I know enough not to spell Jesus with a small g! -Boston Herald.

USE FOR SAGE'S MONEY.

Mrs. Russell Sage, it is learned, may be a generous patron of the government to establish a permanent women's art club in Brooklyn or Manhattan at a cost of $100,000 or more. Mrs. Sage has recently been showing a keen interest in women artists of Manhattan, who are struggling to make a livelihood in art. If Mrs. Sage should contribute it is probable that the scheme to raise $100,000 to erect a studio building near Prospect park will be enlarged to raise a much greater sum, probably $300,000 or $400,000.
